

Faculty Evaluation Process

Helena College University of Montana

Purpose

The purpose of faculty evaluation at Helena College is to further the College's mission and core themes through assessment of major areas of responsibility. This process clarifies expectations and provides a framework to support continuous improvement in teaching and learning, promoting professional development, and recognizing service.

Process

A complete faculty evaluation is conducted annually for non-tenure track faculty and tenure-track non-tenured faculty, and once every three years for tenured faculty. Tenured faculty may elect to receive an evaluation, set goals, and or complete the self-assessment more frequently.

Evaluations for full-time faculty are conducted by the Director/Division Chair and reviewed by the Associate Dean of Academic and Student Affairs. The evaluation is focused upon the goals of the individual faculty member and the mission and core themes of Helena College. There are three areas of responsibility upon which the faculty evaluation is based:

- Instruction
- Professional Development
- Service to College/Community

The evaluation includes the following components:

- Faculty Goals
- Faculty Self-evaluation
- Administrative Evaluation (includes an observation)
- Syllabus
- Assessment of How Learning Outcomes Met
- Course Evaluation
- Peer Observation (highly recommended, but not required)

Required support materials include the following:

- Syllabus for one course
- Sample assignment showing course design and knowledge
- Sample demonstrating appropriate delivery method or technology
- Sample assessment

Required elements of online materials:

Resources for quality online course design are available through the Director of eLearning. During each evaluation cycle the Director/Division Chair will reference these materials when evaluating the course.

Another key element in successful online instruction is compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act accessibility standards. These standards must be met in order for Helena College to be in compliance with federal law. During each evaluation cycle, a review of these standards will also be completed by the Director of eLearning and provided to the Director/Division Chair. Information and training on ADA compliance is available through the Director of eLearning. Any compliance issues will be addressed during the evaluation follow up process.

As all courses as Helena College include a Moodle presence, these course shells will be reviewed for face-to-face courses as part of the overall instructional observation.

Questions

Questions about the evaluation process should be directed to the Director/Division Chair.

Procedures

1. The Human Resources Department will maintain record of all faculty evaluations and a schedule of required evaluations for each academic year.
2. At the beginning of the academic year, the Director of Human Resources provides a list of faculty to be evaluated to the Directors & Division Chairs.
3. The Director/Division Chairs issue a written notice with complete instruction and required document to the faculty being evaluated.
4. Following the initial correspondence from the Director/Division Chair, the faculty member drafts individual goals in each of the three evaluation areas and schedules a planning meeting with their Director/Division Chair to discuss those goals.
5. Goals are finalized by the faculty member and the Director/Division Chair during the planning meeting. The faculty member and the evaluator may agree to hold interim status meetings.
6. An electronic portfolio shell will be created in Moodle for each faculty member to track progress.
7. Throughout the evaluation year, the faculty member maintains documentation relevant to goal achievement. It is recommended this be done through the creation of an electronic portfolio for submission and review. Creation of an electronic portfolio will allow for annual additions, which will simplify the tenure and/or promotion process moving forward.
8. The faculty member selects a course to be observed. The faculty member and Director/Division Chair schedule a class observation time. The observation can take place in one or more of the following settings: lecture, online course, lab, or clinical instruction.
9. The faculty member completes the self-evaluation portion of the Faculty Evaluation Form.
10. The faculty member completes the electronic portfolio for review.
11. The faculty member and Director/Division Chair schedule a summary meeting to review the portfolio.
12. The faculty member submits the portfolio for review.
13. The faculty member and Director/Division Chair meet to review the portfolio and evaluation. A plan for faculty improvement, with a timeline, may be formulated if needed.
14. The Director/Division Chair summarizes the course evaluations and provides written comments, including commendations and recommendations, on the Instructional Observation form.
15. The faculty member and Director/

16. Director/Division Chair sign the Instructional Observation and the Personal Self-Assessment form.
17. If the faculty member disagrees with the evaluation, he or she has the right to submit a written rebuttal.
18. The Associate Dean of Academic and Student Affairs has an opportunity to review the evaluation, and the evaluation becomes part of the faculty member's personnel file house with the Human Resources Department.

Goal Setting

Goal setting, achievement, and evaluation are essential to the process of assessing performance and the continuous improvement cycle. Goals should be set as a collaborative effort between the faculty and Director/Division Chair.

At least one goal will be formulated for area of responsibility (see Faculty Goal Sheet attached below):

- Instruction
- Professional Development
- Service to the College/Community

Goals should meet the following criteria:

- Be clearly connected to the relevant area of responsibility.
- Be specific, measurable, attainable, realistic, and time bound.
- Be directly related to and consistent with the Mission and Core Themes of Helena College.
- Be clearly stated in writing and terms that everyone can understand.
- Include a plan of action and steps for implementation.
- Include standards of acceptable performance and evaluation.
- Be discussed by the parties concerned and modified if necessary.
- Differentiate between short-term and long-term commitment.
- Be referred to frequently throughout the year.
- Be discussed at the final evaluation meeting.

Responsibility Areas

Goals should be set to meet one or more of the criteria within the three areas of responsibility outlined in the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the Montana Board of Regents of Higher Education and the Helena Teachers' Union. See Faculty Self-Assessment Form for more detail, or refer to Article 7 of the Collective Bargaining Agreement.

OPTIONAL PEER OBSERVATION

There are two options for peer observations:

1. Observe one or more faculty in or outside your discipline.
2. Request an observation by a peer.

This process might work well as a goal during an evaluation year, or it might be considered as a Professional Development activity.

The purpose of the option 1 is to give faculty the opportunity to observe unique and innovative delivery methods. The intent is not to lock a faculty member into trends or textbook-style rhetoric and observations. Conversely, the intent is to allow for the observation of techniques, which could be applied, adapted, or used as a springboard for additional methods of interacting with students and presenting course content.

This process can be documented by completing the Instructional Observation Form, or by writing a brief synopsis of the experience and new ideas connected to the observation.

Option 2 is intended to provide faculty with an outside perspective on classroom performance as a means of using feedback for continuous improvement.

Although successfully teaching of an online course requires different techniques and strategies, the elements of quality instruction do not change based on mode of delivery. These elements, as detailed on the Instructional Observation Form, are:

- Content Mastery is evident
 - Examples: Instructor is present in course and supplemental materials and/or text added; instructor feedback is evident; student questions are answered, etc.
- Uses positive reinforcement
 - Examples: Positive interaction with students in forums, emails, feedback, assignment explanation, etc.
- Learning is assessed
 - Examples: All forms of assessment will work here, forums, quizzes, exams, papers, assignments, etc.
- Planning and/or intentionality is evident
 - Examples: Opportunity for student to student connectivity and student to instructor connectivity; course shell is organized; topics/content is connected throughout the course; connection to course learning outcomes is evident; variety of activities present throughout course; etc.
- Environment is conducive to learning
 - Examples: Course shell is organized and information is readily available; variety of learning activities are used throughout course; expectations for course and all assignments/assessments are clear; etc.
- Positive comportment is demonstrated
 - Examples: Communication used in all student interactions; including email, forums, feedback, assignments, assessments; is appropriate to the situation.
